How You Can Help

At Willamette West Habitat, families come first! And the only way to provide simple, decent, affordable housing to families in need is through partnership. Regardless of the size of your company, everyone can make a difference by helping a family build a home.

Consider utilizing the construction site as your empowerment and leadership training location. There is no better way to learn how to cooperate with co-workers than in a construction setting, and no experience is necessary - we’ll train you!

Over the years, Habitat for Humanity has received extensive, favorable television exposure on popular shows like “Home Again with Bob Villa” and “Home Improvement.” Oprah Winfrey, Coretta Scott King, Tom Brokaw, Paul Newman, even President Jimmy Carter and his wife Roselynn have all praised and supported Habitat’s work. As a Habitat partner, your company will benefit by being linked to Habitat’s excellent reputation.

You know how important your employees are to you. Why not show them with a moral boosting day of having fun while helping someone less fortunate than themselves. You’ll even position your company as a good corporate citizen, building goodwill while making valuable contributions to your community.

Please take some time to review our brochure and see how your company can boost moral, help the community, and become part of the Habitat team today!

The Need for Affordable Housing

Every day in Washington County, low-income, hard-working families struggle to find affordable places to live. Rapidly rising rents force these families to live in unsafe, unhealthy and crowded conditions. Often, these families move once or twice a year in search of rents that stay within their reach. Because of this, children transfer from school to school, affecting their learning and their self-esteem.

The American Dream of homeownership is seen as simply unattainable due to the skyrocketing home prices and little change in the incomes of hard-working families.

What We Do

Willamette West Habitat is your local, independent Habitat for Humanity affiliate, dedicated to eliminating sub-standard housing. This year we will serve our 100th family. Our landbank will help low-income families escape the circle of poverty for years to come.

WWHFH is a hand up, not a hand-out. Families put in 500 hours of sweat equity, save for a downpayment and attend financial classes before they are able to purchase their home.

Their children are healthier and safer. They do better in school, have higher self-esteem, and feel more hopeful toward their future.
